CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 1.—Jammed in every nook of the stands, fifteen thousand fans gathered to cheer the White Sox and New York Highlanders in the second game of the final series. With that old winning line-up of the Highlanders, and General Griffith didn't so show the Highlanders could lose, and they didn't. They held the White Sox down to eight hits and two runs. The New Yorkers scored seven runs and made ten base hits off seven innings before the game was over. The Sox were completely out of the game. Griffith is greatly pleased over today's victory, and expects to take the remaining game without any trouble.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 1.—Thanks to Dineen's steady pitching, the Beaneaters today turned the tables on the locals and administered a crushing defeat to the tune of 6 to 1, which made up for yesterday's shut out. Six men were struck out by Dineen. St. Louis was comparatively easy for the visitors. Stahl's three-base hit was the feature of the game. The Bostonians are convinced they can easily overcome the three-point lead now held by the Yankees in the race for the pennant, and are figuring on getting a slice of "Joe" Uhlman's $50,000 offer for a post-season series with the Giants, a report of which has been received from New York.

VIRGINIA BITES DUST

PLAYING OF TEAM POOR

Opponents Scored Six Points in
First Half and Made Three Touchdowns in Second.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 1.—The addition of Smith made a new eleven of Pennsylvania, and in place of the predicted defeat, the Quakers won an encouraging victory over Virginia on Franklin Field today. Score, 24 to 0.
The appearance of the big fullback was not only a shock to the Southerners, but it sent a galvanic thrill through his teammates. It metamorphosed ten dead ones into such live ones that the expected hard battle became a rout. It was a 3-5 cult to credit that the red and blue eleven, which smashed through the Virginia line, skirted the ends, and played so fiercely on defense that the visitors were not able to rush the ball for more than thirty yards in the entire game, was the same listless team that barely escaped with disgracefully small scores over State and Swarthmore. Where there was so much good play it may perhaps seem a bit unfair to single one man out for such a meed of praise, but Smith deserves the best that can be said for him.

Story of the Game.

Neither team made any changes in the line-up for the second half. After receiving the kick-off, Pennsylvania called the ball to the center of the field, only to lose it on a fumble. Virginia soon had to kick, and Corson caught Crawford's punt on the 25-yard line.

Shelby got around the end for ten yards and Bennis made four. Old reliable Pick went into the line for four more, and Smith for three. This brought the ball to Pennsylvania's 45-yard line. Torrey was called on; as he went into the line the ball became dislodged and threatened to slip from his arms. Seeing the danger, Corson tried to take the pick, but as he did so the two lines came together and the ball was sent bounding into the air. It fell into the arms of Ziegler, and with a mighty crash the through. He had a clear field for a touchdown and went thundering toward the opposition line.

The element of accident entered largely into Pennsylvania's third touchdown. Pennsylvania now began to play a kick in the goal, and the ball was exchanged several times. Finally it became Shelby's turn to punt from his own 30-yard line. The ball went to Pollard on Virginia's 50-yard chalk mark. The Southern quarterback was so fiercely tackled by Link that he dropped the ball. Weeks, following the pigskin with his accustomed closeness, was instantly on the spot to prompt by the errors. He gathered up the ball while on the run and dashed across the field. Two Virginia men were near him all the way, but the Pennsylvania end got to the seven-yard line before Pollard downed him with a good tackle.

Piekarski plunged for three, and then Smith hurdled with such swiftness that he was on the other side of the line before the Virginia forwards could stop him. Again Corson kicked out faultlessly to Smith, again the catch was heeled, and again Corson kicked the goal.

Line Up and Summaries.

Harvard, 24; Williams, 0.

(By Associated Press.)
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 1.—Harvard defeated Williams in the first football game of the season this afternoon by the score of 24 to 0, which is seven points better than her victory at the same time last year. During the whole game the Crimson team played as a single man, following the ball very closely. The oval was clearly handled by the teams, not a single fumble being made by Harvard, and only one by Williams.

Yale, 42; Trinity, 0.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 1.—Yale's big football eleven swept aside the Trinity College eleven in declaring after the game that the same time last year. During the whole game the Crimson team played as a single man, following the ball very closely. The oval was clearly handled by the teams, not a single fumble being made by Harvard, and only one by Williams.

Princeton, 10; Georgetown, 0.

(By Associated Press.)
PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 1.—In a game marked by brilliant play Princeton defeated the heavy Georgetown team this afternoon by a score of 10 to 0. The visitors played a good game and did not "waver" until the last five minutes of play. Twice they held Princeton for downs near the fifteen-yard line. A heavy wind prevented good punting.

WALTER D. MOSES & CO.

On the 1st day of October, 1879 (just twenty-five years ago), this music establishment opened its doors to the public.

At that time pianos were sold as a side line in book stores, there being no exclusive music houses in Virginia, and it was not to be wondered that many predicted a failure for our modest beginning. But the founders of our business were firm in their conviction that there was a future for the firm that would sell exclusively the best pianos and musical instruments at honest prices and on easy terms of payment.

The success of the present establishment is a monument to their judgment and foresight.

There is no purchase one can make that requires as much confidence in the dealer as that of a piano. The buyer may find a piano that looks and sounds well, but when it comes to the actual durability and lasting qualities, it is a matter of the dealer's word.

It is with pardonable pride that we find that sales are frequently made to the children of satisfied patrons who have learned by years of experience that the pianos sold to their parents by us have lived up to every representation.

Our list of pianos to-day is larger because our increased trade demands a greater variety, but many of the pianos on our floor are of the same makes as those we have sold for the past quarter of a century.

The finest pianos manufactured are to be found in our warerooms. The names are standard and are known and recognized by all critics as the leaders in the art of piano building.

Exchange Department

As the name implies, it is a department in which we place all kinds of instruments taken in exchange. These exchanged instruments are carefully restored, and in many instances cannot be distinguished from new. They are sold with the same guarantee as new instruments.

This affords the careful buyer an opportunity to save many dollars in the purchase of a piano, organ or pianola.

Several Anniversary Bargains in this Department this Week

We take this opportunity to thank our many friends for their generous patronage, and we wish to announce that the same liberal policy and desire to please that has characterized our success in the past will be strictly maintained in the future.
